

Cemelli is Mapping Community-Led Climate Solutions

Chamizal Environmental Health

Cemelli de Aztlan

We're excited about this project because it's going to produce a plan created for community and by community to hold elected officials accountable and to give them essentially a map on how to move forward in planning for the future.

The power of testimony can change the world. Our community lacks representation in all spaces of government, whether it's because of lack of the language, the digital divide. We all as residents deserve the right to live to have clean air and to live in a safe community. Uplifting the community to share their story is the most powerful thing that we can do

Because we organize in a geographic reality where we're uplifting the residents of that reality to participate in the process for the solution, we do need allies, and we do need support. But solidarity and support is key to ensure that these voices are heard.

And so we ask our supporters and our allies to remember that the work that we do is beyond us. It is because we care about the future.
